The screenshot shows the AppSource page for the 'Dynavision Advanced Item & Price Import' app. The page is titled 'Dynamics 365 Business Central' and 'Apps for Business Central'. The app is listed under 'Apps' and has a 'Free Trial' button highlighted. The app's description states: 'Import Microsoft Excel lists straight from your vendors or suppliers. Stop juggling csv files and stop flexing your Microsoft Excel muscles to import price lists and item lists. The Dynavision Advanced Item & Price Import lets you import these lists straight from your vendors or suppliers into Microsoft Dynamics 365: Business Central without the need to manipulate or reformat them first in Excel. Free end-users from the multi-file rapid start horror when it comes to price & item import. Receive the list, run it through this app and manipulate it right in Business Central. Then save your touch-ups in a template for when you receive an updated list so you don't need to do that all over again. Easy! You're wondering if it can handle the crazy excels you're receiving from your suppliers? Well we've thrown some pretty complex multi tab, multi worksheet, multi header, multi group, multi row templates at it! And we added some powerful data transformation functions right in the app.'

Import Microsoft Excel lists straight from your vendors or suppliers

Stop juggling csv files and stop flexing your Microsoft Excel muscles to import price lists and item lists. The Dynavision Advanced Item & Price Import lets you import these lists straight from your vendors or suppliers into Microsoft Dynamics 365: Business Central without the need to manipulate or reformat them first in Excel. Free end-users from the multi-file rapid start horror when it comes to price & item import.

Receive the list, run it through this app and manipulate it right in Business Central. Then save your touch-ups in a template for when you receive an updated list so you don't need to do that all over again. Easy!

You're wondering if it can handle the crazy excels you're receiving from your suppliers? Well we've thrown some pretty complex multi tab, multi worksheet, multi header, multi group, multi row templates at it! And we added some powerful data transformation functions right in the app.

- Apply transformation rules (e.g. round prices, trim values, convert measures, ...)
- Define value mappings like countries, item categories, attributes, ...
- Create your own 'calculated columns'
- Convert from row to multiple tables
- Fully configurable support from custom fields or 3rd party tables
- Search & match using conditions
- Check on import, create or update items, create or update purchase prices
- End purchase prices from the previous period

Review description

no longer needed to manipulate excels with VLookups, import the excel directly. Masterdata and price can be imported directly to different BC tables.

I agree to have Dynavision email me at admin@CRMbc854056.onmicrosoft.com about my feedback.
